

WILL MAKE HIS START SOUTH TO-MORROW—None the Worse for Trolley Accident.

GRAND DUKE HIS GUEST

Czar's Relative Pays Respects to the Nation's Chief at Oyster Bay—Pittsfield Investigating Accident.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 4.—President Roosevelt went for a drive shortly after he arose this morning. He felt no ill effects from the accident of yesterday, but his face shows some traces of his exciting experience.

Dr. Lung, the official physician of the President, carefully examined him to-day and declared that beyond the slight abrasions on face and neck there was nothing whatever wrong.

The Grand Duke Boris lunched with the President to-day. He arrived from Newport in Ogden Miller's yacht, and was accompanied by Count Cassini, the Russian Ambassador, and three members of his suite. Ogden Miller and Assistant Secretary of State Peirce were also in the party.

Will Go to the South.

The President will leave here to-morrow on the Sylph, preparatory to starting from Washington on his short southern trip. He will leave Jersey City in a private car attached to the 1:14 P. M. train over the Pennsylvania Railroad. He will leave Washington at 7:30 P. M. to-morrow on a special train over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for Chattanooga, where he will attend the annual convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen on Monday.

Secretary Cortelyou, who passed last night at his summer home at Hempstead, is reported to be much better this morning. He will accompany the President on his southern trip. President Roosevelt is receiving a large number of telegrams, cables and letters, congratulating him on his escape from serious injury in yesterday's accident.

TRYING TO FIX THE BLAME FOR TRAGEDY.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 4.—Action is being taken to-day to fix the responsibility for the accident to the President's carriage party yesterday. It is said that, regardless of right in the matter, the idea of a street car disputing the right of way with the President of the United States was extremely discourteous.

It is argued that the Pittsfield Street Railway Company should not have disregarded the request of the Mayor that no cars should be run while the President was in the city. The city government takes this view of the case.

Motorman Euclid Madden and Conductor James Kelly, who had charge of the car that struck the President's carriage, were arraigned in the District Court here this afternoon. Not more than fifty persons were present. After a conference between counsel for the street railway men and the Court it was agreed to postpone the hearing for two weeks. Motorman Madden and Conductor Kelly were each fined $250.00. At a meeting last night a committee of investigation was organized, including members of both branches of the city government, with the Mayor at the head. In addition to this, the Pittsfield Mon Council has appointed a committee to investigate the question of the speed of street cars in general and to report concerning how it may be regulated.

At the House of Mercy this morning it was stated that the condition of D. J. Pratt, the driver of the President's carriage, was satisfactory, and that nothing had developed to make his recovery seem less probable than it did last night. The body of Sheriff Thomas Agnew Craig, who was killed in the accident to the President's party, was dreadfully mangled. The undertaker, having in charge the body since to-day, it was a worst case he had ever seen. Gov. Crane is personally attending to all the details of the shipment of the body to Chicago.

M'CULLAGH IS ACTIVE.

Superintendent of Elections Issues a Warrant and 120 Subpoenas.

That Superintendent of Elections John McCullagh from now on will rigidly and energetically investigate the charges that colonization is rife in certain districts of the city was made clear by an announcement he made to-day.

Supt. McCullagh to-day issued a warrant for the arrest of a man whose name he would not give. The man is a political worker in the Twenty-sixth Assembly District, of which ex-Sheriff Thomas Dunn is leader. He issued a hundred and twenty subpoenas for men whom he wants to appear before him and explain certain matters, and it was said that the issuance of a large number of subpoenas would be a daily occurrence from now on till the primaries.

OFF ON LONG VOYAGE.

Hamburg Liner Alps to Sail Three Thousand Miles up the Amazon.

The Hamburg-American line steamer Alps sailed to-day for Iquitos, Peru, which is over three thousand miles up the Amazon River, and the steamer is taking cargo from here direct to its destination without transshipment.

This is the first merchant vessel to be dispatched direct to that point from this port.

FOUND MOTHER DYING.

Had Home Return of Barclay Peak, Released from Prison.

(Special to The Evening World.)—Barclay Peak, N. J., Sept. 4.—Barclay Peak did not come to this city upon his release from State Prison where he had served fourteen years for the murder of his sweetheart, Kate Anderson. He went direct to the home of his parents at Groveland, where he found his mother dying.

KEEPS POLITICS OUT OF STRIKE.

Gov. Stone, of Pennsylvania, Will Not Call Legislature for Partisan Ends.

MUST SEE GOOD IN IT.

Tells Committee There Will Be No Extra Session Unless a Constitutional Law Can Be Passed.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 4.—Gov. Stone was waited upon by a committee from the State Executive Board of Railroad Employees of Pennsylvania this afternoon and requested to take immediate steps to bring about a settlement of the strike in the anthracite coal regions and, if necessary, call an extra session of the Legislature for the enactment of a compulsory arbitration law.

Gov. Stone replied that if, by calling a special session of the Legislature, a law could be passed that would be constitutional and would settle this strike and prevent others, he would not hesitate to call one.

The Governor added that he regarded the strike as of sufficient public interest to justify an extra session of the Legislature if it would solve the difficulty, but he would not call a special session in the interest of speculation or for political effect if no satisfactory law could be passed or good come out of it.

MINE PRESIDENT VISITS COAL FIELD.

Important moves in the coal strike may follow the return of President Thomas P. Fowler, of the Ontario and Western road, from the mining region.

President Fowler is making a tour of the anthracite section to personally ascertain what are the prospects for breaking the strike and opening the mines. He will return to New York to-night.

A full report of his investigation will be given to President Baer, of the Reading; President Truesdale, of the Lackawanna, and President Underwood, of the Erie, at a meeting to-morrow, when the situation will be discussed.

At this conference the anthracite Presidents will consider the report of Commissioner of Labor Carroll D. Wright and will decide whether they want to reply to his recommendations to President Roosevelt.

Denial was made to-day of the story that J. Pierpont Morgan had asked President Mitchell, of the anthracite coal miners, what terms he will make for a settlement of the strike. This denial, together with that of Mr. Mitchell, disposes of the report that emanated from Philadelphia.

Thus far Mr. Morgan has not made any overtures to the head of the miners' organization, and it is considered extremely unlikely that he will do so.

FAIR HEIRS ANXIOUS FOR A SETTLEMENT

If the Million Is Divided Equally, It Is Believed That There Will Be No Contest.

Several of the heirs to the estate of the late Charles L. Fair are anxiously awaiting some word from Mrs. Hannah Nelson, who is now in San Francisco arranging the settlement of the legal questions in the distribution of the money. So far as can be learned, none of the heirs who have remained in the East has heard a word from Mrs. Nelson or the members of her immediate family, who are in San Francisco, and are utterly in the dark regarding the proceedings that are being taken.

William M. Leffers, who is in the real estate business at No. 36 Wall street, and who is one of the heirs, being a grandson of Mrs. Nelson, is beginning to show concern in the proceedings.

"I have not heard a word from Mrs. Nelson since she went West," he said to-day, "and I am getting anxious about what is being done. I have no doubt, nor have the other heirs any, that there will be an amicable settlement. If the million dollars offered by the members of Mr. Fair's family as settlement of the claims of the Nelson and Smith heirs shall be accepted I believe the money will be equally divided. That kind of an arrangement is entirely satisfactory to me, and I have heard no protest against such an arrangement from the other heirs."

MANY KNEW OF INTENDED CRIME

Detective Says Shooting at Huntington Home Might Have Been Prevented.

THEFT OF PISTOL KNOWN.

Man Had Acted Strangely and So Frightened Girl Victim by His Threats that She Locked Herself Up.

When Daniel Hawkins, the assistant gardener at Mrs. Collis P. Huntington's Throg's Neck estate, was arraigned in Morrisania Court to-day for shooting Elizabeth Connell, a kitchen maid, Detective Dillon told how the shooting might have been prevented had any one about the estate taken the trouble to interest themselves and call in the police.

Detective Dillon says that Hawkins was incensed at the Connell girl, believing she had carried tales about him to his mistress. Only a week ago he was threatened with discharge, though he had been in Mrs. Huntington's employ for twelve years.

Stole the Revolver.

Tuesday afternoon he went to the Connell girl and upbraided her for tale-bearing, and said he would settle with her. Then he went to the watchman's shanty and stole a .38-calibre revolver. The fact that Hawkins had stolen the revolver and had made threats against Elizabeth Connell was known to the other servants, but nothing was done to stop him. The Connell woman was so sure he meant harm to her that she locked herself in her room immediately after her supper.

At 6 o'clock next morning Hawkins went to the kitchen and shot her. He then threw the revolver on the kitchen floor and ran to the Sound and tried to drown himself.

When George Hollingsworth, Mrs. Huntington's brother, and William Cahill, a coachman, dragged him from the water, he said, "You people knew I was going to do this last night. Why didn't you let me drown?"

Plea in Insanity.

Lawyer George C. D'Arcy appeared for Hawkins in court to-day and said that he intended pleading insanity as his defense. The prisoner was bound over without bail to await the outcome of his victim's injuries. Detective Dillon told Magistrate Crane the girl's condition was still precarious.

Coroner O'Gorman, of the Bronx, was very indignant over the attempt to exclude him from the Huntington premises when he went to get the girl's ante-mortem statement. He claimed Dr. William Deming, the Health Officer of the Bronx, for his officiousness in telling Mrs. Huntington to allow no one to enter the place.

Coroner O'Gorman had to order the arrest of Mr. Hollingsworth and three of the servants and threaten to put Mrs. Huntington herself in custody unless he was granted access to the house. After calling the Coroner a trespasser and ordering him from her place, Mrs. Huntington cooled down when told she would be locked up. She then explained that she had acted under Dr. Deming's advice.

IS EX-ALDERMAN A FORGER?

William Kolo, of Easton, Causes the Arrest of Reuben Teel.

Reuben Teel, formerly an Alderman in Easton, Pa., was arrested in Hoboken to-day, charged by William Kolo, of Easton, with having forged his name to a note for $60 and collecting the money. Teel was traced to Hoboken, it was said, by means of letters which he had written to a woman in Easton. He is held for requisition.

BRIDE AND GUESTS WAITED

All Ready for Wedding Ceremony, but Bridegroom Did Not Appear.

STILL STRANGELY MISSING.

Newark Belle Prostrated, and Friends of Young Man Say he Feared He Couldn't Give Wife-to-Be Luxuries.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 4.—Miss Fannie L. Baker, daughter of Nelson H. Baker, of No. 389 Lincoln avenue, well to do and well known here, is prostrated this afternoon over the sudden disappearance of her fiancé, Frank E. Westervelt, of Wortendyke, Bergen County. All arrangements for a fashionable wedding at the home of the bride's parents had been completed.

Bridesmaids in silk gowns and invited guests filled the house, but the young man failed to appear at 1:30 o'clock last evening, the time set for the ceremony, and Rev. O. E. Wilson, pastor of the Emanuel Baptist Church, who had been engaged to perform the ceremony, was finally notified that his services were not required.

Until this afternoon the young bride-to-be feared sickness or an accident had detained her sweetheart, but as no trace of the young man could be secured she broke down.

Westervelt was formerly in charge of a telegraph office at Arlington. A year ago he suddenly disappeared, and at that time the New York newspapers published a story that there had been a secret wedding and the bridegroom had disappeared to escape the wrath of the bride's father.

His uncle is a wealthy Philadelphia manufacturer. The girl's parents are at a loss to account for the young man's actions. Westervelt's friends say he feared he could not earn sufficient to support his wife in the style she had been accustomed to.

KILLED IN FREIGHT WRECK.

Collision on New West Branch of the New York Central.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Sept. 4.—A fatal collision of freight trains occurred today on the new west branch division of the New York Central Railroad near Keating, Pa., where the road joins the Pennsylvania Railroad. Asaph J. Chapman, brakeman, of Sunbury, Pa., was killed. Andrew Miller, engineer, of Jersey Shore, Pa., and another brakeman were severely but not fatally injured.

PISTOL SHOT KILLED HIM.

Facts of Rich Newark Man's Death Withheld by Relatives.

(Special to The Evening World.) NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 4.—Dr. Charles F. Leibelach, who is acting as Coroner in the absence of Dr. Washington, announced to-day that the death of Thomas S. Carley, a wealthy hat manufacturer, which was reported yesterday, was due to a self-inflicted pistol-shot wound in the head.

The first report of Mr. Carley's death was to the effect that he died of heart disease while in bed. The Acting Coroner says his investigation showed that Mr. Carley's body was found in the bathroom at his home, No. 288 Bank street. The reasons of the dead man's family for keeping the facts from the public are not given.

LITTLE WOMAN FIGHTS THIEF.

Mrs. Gehm Weighs But Eighty Pounds, but She Captured the Burglar.

CAUGHT AFTER A CHASE.

He Broke Away and Held Pursuers at Bay, but Two Detectives Nabbed Him Later.

Mrs. Clara Gehm, who is about twenty years old, pretty and weighs maybe eighty pounds, proved that her pluck is all out of proportion to her size.

It was housecleaning day with Mrs. Gehm, who but a short time ago married George Gehm, employed by the Central Brewing Company. The couple live on the first floor of No. 229 East Sixty-third street. In the course of her work Mrs. Gehm found she needed something from the grocer's and despatched the child of a neighbor on the errand, waiting in the hallway, after first locking the door to her apartments.

While the young woman stood waiting for the child's return a one-armed man passed her and went upstairs. A moment later the child returned. Mrs. Gehm then went to her flat and tried to open the door. She found some one was holding the handle on the other side.

Flee to Face with Thief.

After a short struggle Mrs. Gehm managed to force the door open and found herself face to face with the one-armed man. In a corner of the room were some articles of clothing which he had put together to carry away.

Without a word Mrs. Gehm sprang at the man's throat, around which she clasped both hands. Taken by surprise, the intruder gave ground, but only for a moment. Then, with all his force he landed blow after blow on Mrs. Gehm's body. The little woman made no outcry, but hung on. Around the room the couple swayed, until with a supreme effort the man broke away and dashed upstairs.

Only then did Mrs. Gehm raise her voice. Her screams were heard by a man named Roberts, who lives above the Gehm apartments. Roberts came from his room in time to see the one-armed man dashing upstairs. He followed to the roof, where the fugitive produced a revolver, which he had taken from the Gehms, and threatened to blow out Roberts's brains. The revolver wasn't loaded, but Roberts didn't know that, and so retreated.

Detectives to the Rescue.

Meanwhile the hubbub had been heard by Detective Sergeants Brady and Mooney of the Central Office, who were in the neighborhood. Learning the circumstances the detectives climbed to the roof of the Gehm house and found the fugitive trying to break open a skylight to another house. They quickly placed him under arrest, and took him to Police Headquarters. He gave the name of George Moore, twenty-seven years old. He was identified as No. 529 in the Rogues' Gallery. The detectives say he is known as "Wings" Moore, a professional burglar. The soubriquet of "Wings" was bestowed on him, they say, because of having only one arm.

Moore was taken to Yorkville Police Court. While the affidavit was being made out Magistrate Hogan took occasion to praise Mrs. Gehm for her plucky fight.

"You deserve great credit," he said. "You are one of the bravest little women I ever heard of."

Moore was held by Magistrate Hogan in $1,000 bail for trial.
